Textile artist and healer Anna Charlotte Rosenberg Bosten takes us on an insightful journey into the world of colours.

Her creative and spiritual life choices together with her schooling in the Indian health system Ayurveda intuitively led her to a deeper understanding of both herself and our life here on earth.

She explains how – with greater insight into who we really are – we can consciously change our lives with the help of colour. A natural wealth we can effortlessly assign to ourselves and our surroundings.

Listening more attentively to our intuition and heart we can begin to live and communicate in harmony with our true selves – our essence.

This beautiful book follows life's patterns filled with inspirational events and thoughtful insights.

Creatively enhanced by the stunning imagery by photographers Richard von Hofsten and Anne Nyblaeus, together in finely tuned collaboration with the congenial book designer Ehrling Braghfors.
